Prove that if the columns of an n-by-n matrix are linearly independent, then the matrix is invertible. (A matrix whose columns are eigenvectors corresponding to distinct eigenvalues is therefore invertible.)

Mark as completed